US Healthcare Journals

US Healthcare Journals currently covers the healthcare industry in two states with some of the worst health outcomes: Louisiana and Arkansas. The Healthcare Journal of Baton Rouge, Healthcare Journal of New Orleans, and Healthcare Journal of Arkansas engage healthcare leaders in these areas, analyzing healthcare to optimize the health of citizens. We are actively seeking story ideas from the markets we serve and are open to discussing potential journal expansions in your state. Nationally, USHJ is producing researched stories about the short- and long-term brain damage that amateur athletes across the U.S. have been and continue to be exposed to in school-sanctioned collision sports, such as football. If you have a background in data analysis and/or investigative journalism and are interested in this topic, let's talk.
