

What I'm looking for: I'm interested in stories that can help people understand how to live in an area of technological and societal upheaval. To narrow in on a few things that are particularly up WIRED's alley, anything to do with how AI is reshaping research—from how scientists are using it to how AI labs are circumventing the traditional scientific process—is high on my list. I'm also interested in how people are taking health matters into their own hands and the companies and influencers rushing to cash in on growing distrust in the medical establishment. If useful, here are some concrete examples of stories we've published recently that get at what I'm most interested in exploring:

Solving Math's Greatest Problems Was an Art Form. Then Came AI

The Great Peptide Cash Grab Has Begun

The Sperm-Maxxing Bros Are Actually Onto Something

Rate: We generally pay around $1/word, depending on the writer's experience and length of a story.
